CKO Vol. 43 Sept. 16-20, 2004 No. 3

RATINGS: 11 - Exceptional, 10 - Strong, 9 - Above Average

11 *NEVADA over Buffalo
Late Score Forecast:
*NEVADA 42 - Buffalo 13

Tough scheduling for Buffalo. Bulls opened with hard-fought conference loss at E. Michigan, hosted high-profile neighbor Syracuse for the first time in a century last week, and now have to travel across the country to face potent Nevada. UB at serious firepower disadvantage. Wolfpack rapidly absorbing "Air Wolf" attack of new/old HC Ault (this is his 3rd tenure as Nevada HC), racking up 598 yards & 38 FDs in cruising to 59-7 home win over Sacramento State. And star sr. RB Chance Kretschmer, who led NCAA in rushing as a true frosh, recovering nicely from off-season knee surgery, as he had 102 YR on only 14 carries last week. Bulls' offense scored no TDs in 37-17 loss to Orange. And QBs Secky & Piskorik have combined for just 46% with 1 TDP & 4 ints. in first 2 games. Fourteen of downtrodden Buffalo's last 20 losses have been by 2 TDs or more.

10 *MISSOURI over Ball State
Late Score Forecast:
*MISSOURI 45 - Ball State 7

Expect a fully focused effort from HC Gary Pinkel's Missouri Tigers as they return home after extremely disappointing effort at Troy. Ball State was down 45-0 at the half and yielded 599 yards in its 59-7 shellacking at the hands of Purdue last Saturday, and the Boiler starters only played about half the game. The Cardinals are down two defensive starters, as LB Seiss and sr. CB Schembra are out indefinitely with wrist and foot injuries, respectively. Expect Mizzou QB B. Smith & RB Nash to be ready for a top effort against youthful Ball State defense (nine true frosh or sophs in 2-deep). Last season Mizzou had little trouble dispatching Ball State 35-7 in Muncie in front of a packed house. Tiger QB Smith was injured in that game, missing most of the 2nd half. In their last 8 non-conference road games facing bowl-caliber competition, the Cardinals have given up 46 ppg. Ball State has only generated 408 yds. in total offense in two games.

10 SAN DIEGO STATE over *Michigan
Late Score Forecast:
SAN DIEGO STATE 13 - *Michigan 24

Long-time CKO sources somewhat surprised veteran, defensively-stout (8th in total "D" LY nationally), well-coached SDS is getting more than 3 full TDs vs. a Michigan squad that is still desperately searching for a productive ground attack that will alleviate some pressure from talented but young, true frosh QB Henne. Wolverine HC Carr, who says he is "disgusted" with a unit (just 171 YR in 71 carries so far!) that may be less than 100% (Underwood missed most of N.D. game with concussion; check status), won't feel a whole lot better about it after facing Aztecs rock-ribbed front 7, spearheaded by high-motor LBs 6-2, 240 Morrison & 6-1, 225 McCoy. Meanwhile, SDS's 6-4 jr. QB Dlugolecki (Illinois transfer) owns enough quality weapons (star RB Hamilton expected to return) to sustain some drives vs. UM defense that lacks the proven "bigs" along retooled DL. And there will be no "fear factor" for Aztecs in Ann Arbor after confidence-boosting 16-13 loss at Ohio State early last season. SDS's clever mentor Craft has few tricks up his sleeve with over 3 weeks to prepare (opening tune-up with Idaho State, followed by bye week).

10 *OREGON STATE over New Mexico
Late Score Forecast:
*OREGON STATE 33 - New Mexico 10

Oregon State heading back to Corvallis for its first home game very hungry for a win after brutal 2-game road trip. Beavers suffered heart-breaking OT defeat (on a missed PAT) in opener at defending national champ LSU, then had to travel to revenge-minded Boise State, owner of the nation's longest winning streak. OSU shouldn't be lacking for confidence vs. this familiar foe. Beavs completely dominated New Mexico, 55-14, in last season's Las Vegas Bowl. Some of the names have changed, but dynamics of this matchup remain much the same as last meeting. OSU attack owns a much more dangerous aerial facet than Lobos, as sr. QB Derek Anderson has already thrown 7 TDP TY. And bread-and-butter UNM ground game (only 6 YR in bowl LY) will stall again vs. hard-hitting Beaver front 7. First road start for still-learning Lobo soph QB Kole McKamey. And OSU 19-5 vs. spread as chalk since 1998!

10 *DALLAS over Cleveland
Late Score Forecast:
*DALLAS 27 - Cleveland 13
(Sunday, September 19)

Since precious few NFL teams make playoffs starting out 0-2, Dallas's highly-successful, demanding HC Bill Parcells is placing extra importance in home opener following 35-17 loss at Minnesota. Expect aggressive, quick, well-coached Cowboy defense to do much better job this week vs. a less-explosive Cleveland offense that mustered just 254 yds. with just 1 scoring drive in 20-3 win vs. Baltimore. Doubt Browns able to establish run vs. Dallas stout front 7, placing extra burden on QB Garcia, who is still building rapport with receivers. On other hand, look for Dallas' seasoned, strong-armed QB Testeverde (29 of 50 for 355 yds. vs Vikes) to be consistently burn an exploitable Brown 2ndary that lacks a "shutdown" CB and was inadequately tested by Ravens still-developing QB Bolter. Moreover, Dallas was 7-2-1 when favored and 4-1 vs. spread following SU loss in reg. season LY (only defeat came at revenge-mined Philly!).

TOTALS: UNDER (40) in Denver-Jacksonville game—Jag defense is Del Rio's pride; CB Champ Bailey an immediate boost for Broncos...UNDER (38) in Buffalo-Oakland game—Good defense, marginal offense has produced 24 "unders" in last 27 games for Bills!

HONORABLE MENTION: PENN STATE (-21) vs. Central Florida—After being stuffed on road by BC's rugged defense, Nittany Lions eager to get back on track vs. UCF team that had problems with Wisconsin's and WV's unbalanced offenses...VIRGINIA (-31) vs. Akron—The number of future pros on Cav squad should spell early doom for the very aptly named "Zip defense" (40 ppg TY)...ARIZONA (+10½) vs. Wisconsin—New HC M. Stoops has the Wildcats "believing" & Wiscy has a green QB; game might have been rated higher if top RB Bell's knee were 100%...UAB (+24) at Florida State—Several 'Noles got banged up in Miami game; Blazers deep in athletes & seeking recognition...DETROIT (-3) vs. Houston—Lions lost WR Charles Rogers for the year, but they now have Roy Williams, Tai Streets & a healthy Az Hakim to replace.
